

Materials for deconstructed text

The materials consist of sentences which will be cut up and placed in envelopes. A close activity is used to reinforce the exercise at the end.

The degree of difficulty depends on how the sentences are cut or where they are cut. For students whose level of English literacy is low, cutting sentences into 2 or 3 parts is sufficiently challenging.

This exercise was used to revise DNA and cell division.

